HSBC Malaysia seals sustainable financing deal with Kelington Group in its maiden venture into liquefied carbon dioxide (LCO2) manufacturing

HSBC supports the Malaysian company's project via a MYR25 million term loan

HSBC Malaysia is delighted to support Kelington Group's (Kelington) maiden venture into the manufacturing of liquefied carbon dioxide (LCO2) via a sustainable financing deal. The Bank provided Kelington with a MYR25 million term loan to partly fund the construction of its LCO2 plant.

Kelington provides ultra-high purity (UHP) gas delivery solutions to world renowned electronics and semiconductor players. Apart from UHP, it is also involved in process reengineering and general contracting.

This is the first LCO2 project for Kelington. Generally, LCO2 can be used in food and beverage (F&B), fabrication, as well as construction industry.

Located in Kerteh, Terengganu, Kelington's LCO2 plant sources the raw gas used to manufacture the LCO2 from a local oil and gas industry leader via a long-term contract. Without Kelington's plant, the raw gas would be released to the air as waste. Given this, this venture will also effectively help to reduce carbon emissions released into the environment.

This deal with Kelington is yet another example of HSBC developing industry leading sustainable product offerings. In 2017, HSBC issued the world's first United Nations (UN) Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) bond followed by the world's first UN SDG sukuk by HSBC Amanah in Malaysia. Earlier this year HSBC also acted as the sole sustainability structuring bank for a market leading Sustainability-Linked Financing (SLF) reinforcing the Bank's commitment to support the shift to a low carbon economy.

"This is also a good example of how we are enabling our Malaysian customers to achieve their sustainability goals. This deal further reaffirms HSBC's ambition in becoming the industry leader for sustainable financing in Malaysia and globally," added Karel.

HSBC Group aspires to be a leader in sustainable financing, managing and shaping the shift to a low-carbon world. The bank has set out a series of commitments globally in support of this goal, including a pledge to provide USD100 billion to sustainable financing and investments by 2025. HSBC Amanah is committed to transforming into a sustainable banking entity and it is accelerating efforts to become the Group's first Sustainable Bank to deliver positive impact to both people and the planet, at the same time, meeting shareholders' interests.
